

A generic KiCad library pin header footprint was used for the motor connection pads. The M1 pin header displayed here will NOT be used. Instead, the motor wires will be connected directly to the pads or another connector header will be used instead. The M1 pin header currently displayed may be ignored.